Speculations concerning acquisition of sub-supplier

The Vestas Group has been informed that the Belgian company Hansen Transmissions International NV ("Hansen") has been acquired by the company AE Rotor Holding BV, which is a Dutch based subsidiary of the Indian Suzlon Group.

Following this acquisition, Vestas has been contacted by a number of share analysts and members of the press for comments on the acquisition.

Vestas has for a number of years made use of Hansen as a supplier of gears and as a result of this entered into a number of delivery and development agreements with Hansen. Vestas does not expect that the transfer of shares will change anything in relation to the existing agreements and day-to-day deliveries.

Yours sincerely
Vestas Wind Systems A/S
