Establishment of Vestas Iberia sales unit

Vestas Mediterranean has decided to merge the sales units of Vestas Portugal and Vestas Eólica into a new sales unit under the name of Vestas Iberia. The new sales unit's main office will be located in Madrid, Spain.

"The new Vestas Iberia sales unit is a result of the functional merger of the former Vestas sales units of Portugal and Spain," explains Juan Araluce, President of Vestas Mediterranean A/S and continues: "Given the market challenges which Vestas Mediterranean will be facing in the coming years, there is an internal need to gain greater levels of efficiency across our entire territory."

The decision has been taken based on the level of sales activity expected in both markets in the near future, together with the need to ensure the full utilisation of the highly skilful and experienced team of employees.

To head the new sales unit, Mr Miguel Picardo has accepted the position of General Manager of Vestas Iberia. Miguel Picardo is 43 years old and holds a degree in Engineering specialized in energy and fuel from the Minas at the Universidad Politécnica of Madrid.

"This merger will allow for synergies and economies of scale among the two countries, as well as an improved business alignment across all the different areas and departments," says Miguel Picardo, General Manager of Vestas Iberia.

Vestas Iberia has five Sales and Service units covering the areas of sales, construction, operation and maintenance of wind power plants.
